

Freedom Principle MO – Missouri First PAC Endorses Candidates for Local School Board and City Council Races for April 2nd Elections

For Immediate Release

(March 27, 2024 – St. Louis, MO)

The Freedom Principle MO – Missouri First PAC believes the April elections are the people’s opportunity to start changing the course of our state and our country. “These local elections are just as important as electing the governor or your state representatives,” said Byron Keelin, President of the Freedom Principle MO – Missouri First PAC. “We are trying to do our part by urging our supporters to get out and vote for candidates we have endorsed for school board or county council,” said Keelin. The endorsements are based on the recommendations of Freedom Principle MO members who live in these communities and the platforms these candidates are campaigning on. “We know there are many other great candidates for other school board elections,” said Keelin. “We encourage citizens in all communities to research their candidates and vote on April 2nd.”

The Freedom Principle MO – Missouri First PAC is pleased to announce its support for the following individuals for local school boards:

Francis Howell School Board

- Adriana Kuhn
- Sam Young

Gasconade County R-2

- James Hackstedt

Springfield R-12 School District

- Dr. Maryam Mohammadkhani (Re-Election)

Willard R-11 School District (Greene County)

- Megan Patrick

The Freedom Principle MO is pleased to announce its support for the following candidates for City Council:

Warrensburg City Council

- Kirk Walker

Pacific Board of Aldermen

- Rick Presley – Alderman Ward 1
- Jennifer Blakely – Alderman Ward 2
- John Schneider – Alderman Ward 3

The main issues these school board candidates are campaigning on include increasing academic excellence, protecting parents and children's rights, and restoring fiscal control by holding the school district accountable to the taxpayers when it comes to tax increases. The main issues the City Council candidates stressed in their campaign platforms include improving infrastructure, promoting economic development, and supporting public safety.

“We believe these candidates are the right candidates to protect our children and protect our communities. We hope voters in these communities will support these candidates on Tuesday, April 2nd,” said Keelin.
