Together...
we tear down stigmas.
we find courage.
we build hope.
FROM THE PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

I am honored to share with you a report on the activities and accomplishments of our 2022 fiscal year.

Our work this year was marked by a renewed sense of strength, inspired by what we’ve accomplished through the most difficult days of the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond. At the same time, we recognize the struggles that mark daily life for so many of the participants and families we serve. In the face of so much need, we’re determined to keep building hope for thousands of people on their journeys toward recovery. Our work is made possible by so many: our inspiring team, our dedicated board, and supporters like you.

In 2022, demand for our services soared ever higher. We tuned in to the needs of our community and stretched every resource and partnership at our disposal to get things done and achieve meaningful change for people across the greater Delaware Valley.

Throughout our 71 years of service, our programmatic philosophy based in peer support has set our work apart. We were the first in Philadelphia to establish a comprehensive curriculum and certification program for peer specialists. My team and I are inspired by the individuals who pursue a career centered on helping others and so generously share their lived experiences on behalf of those most in need. I look forward to welcoming more than a few of our hard-working students as colleagues in the coming years.

Training the next generation of peer support professionals covers only a small fraction of what we do. When reading through this report, I hope you will draw inspiration from the staff, participants, partners and supporters who make up the fabric of Mental Health Partnerships.

A mission as far-reaching and visionary as ours can only be accomplished by those who are dedicated to making a difference. I’m grateful to you for being a part of our work and sharing our determination to build hope.

With gratitude,

Dr. Adriana Torres-O’Connor
President & Chief Executive Officer

MODEL OF PEER SUPPORT
No one walks alone on their journey of recovery. Our staff of trained and certified peer support specialists use their own lived experiences of recovery, in conjunction with therapeutic and wellness techniques, to provide support and interventions to those who are looking to recover from mental health and addiction challenges. More than 60 percent of our staff are individuals with lived experience.

Together,

Our services range from individual consultations and monthly support meetings to skill-building workshops — all for low or no cost.

TRAINING AND EDUCATION
We were the first to professionalize peer support in Pennsylvania. Today, we are one of only three agencies in the state that offers certification for peer specialists. The Institute@MHP empowers students with high-quality educational offerings, both virtual and in person, often at low or no cost. Our coursework is complemented with continuing education, training, and support as our specialists pursue meaningful careers in mental health.

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT
Learning and professional opportunities at MHP continue beyond graduation day. Our peer specialists can access job readiness training and continuing education to set them up for lifelong success. Through our Individual Coalition Action Network (ICAN), we provide scholarships for Certified Peer Specialists and peer support staff to attend conferences and access continuing education.

MEET CORRIE
Corrie Decker
Outreach Supervisor, Mental Health Partnerships

Q: Tell us about your work: what is a typical day like for you?
A: “I am coming up on my five-year work anniversary at MHP. As the Supervisor of Outreach at our Parkside location, I oversee two teams, based in West Philadelphia and at the Philadelphia International Airport, who are out in the community supporting individuals experiencing homelessness. Because my teams work evening and overnight shifts, I support them during the day by following up on housing placement, providing court testimony for participants who may have been involuntarily hospitalized due to their mental illness, and developing discharge plans for those individuals once they are ready to transition back into the community. I am in close contact with many different partnering agencies that may not be available during the hours my teams are operating.”

Q: What do you find most challenging, and most rewarding, about your work at MHP?
A: “What I find most challenging is working in partnership with other organizations that do not understand peer support. Different organizations may look for a quick solution, not understanding that peer support is a process with proven results. What is most rewarding about working for MHP is that I do not have to hide from my past or present. I can use my lived experience in supporting others. I also enjoy working in a peer environment where we are able to show support to each other.”

Q: Peer support is MHP’s core value. When you’re working with participants and mentoring colleagues, how does peer support play a role in what you do?
A: “My role allows me to help those I supervise with professional development, and create an environment with mutual respect and understanding. I am able to advocate for my teams, and educate them on the best ways to self-advocate as well. As a team, we use what we learn together, and apply it in the work that we do. Not only do we pull from our lived experiences, but we also use what we have learned to support participants with stable housing, recovery based supports, and connecting them to services.”

Our 71-year track record proves that the peer support model is a powerful approach that achieves results.

Our certified peer specialists are our biggest success stories — people who have transformed their own lives now reaching out to those in need. Their experiences help them build trust and connection with those who are actively engaged in their recovery journey.
As a volunteer and board member of several mental health agencies, I was aware of Mental Health Partnerships’ work and advocacy for years. MHP has built nationwide awareness of its work to harness the power and potential of peer support in behavioral health settings. I was honored to join MHP’s board and help the organization leverage its large scale and pioneering ideas to reach even more people throughout our region.

Mental health affects all of us. It’s essential to our well-being, and more than half of us will experience some form of mental or behavioral health challenge in our lives. As I’ve deepened my involvement in the mental health community over the years, I’ve learned that, like many physical ailments, mental illness is not always obvious — and whether you realize it or not, you likely know someone in treatment or someone who could use some help.

Every day, I am inspired by the radically simple idea at the heart of MHP’s approach: that individuals living with mental health challenges deserve our respect and support. This core value informs everything our dedicated staff takes on. Erasing the stigma and shame that still cloud so much of our collective understanding of mental illness is an ongoing process, and the caring, professional team at MHP go above and beyond to help people access the help they need and deserve.

I am proud of all that we achieved in 2022, and I am grateful to every partner, volunteer and donor — at every level — who has joined us in support of this important work. At MHP, we know that every journey starts with a single step, and you are making those steps toward recovery and wellness possible.

MEET OUR PARTICIPANTS IN THEIR OWN WORDS

When I was referred to Mental Health Partnerships, I was in crisis. Today, though I am without family to lean on or a home to call my own, I am safe and surrounded by the caring staff of MHP. I am finally at peace. My success story is that I feel alive again, thanks to MHP for giving me hope and security.

I am proud to say because of the support of MHP, I have been able to get the resources I needed, and I’ve been in recovery for the past four years.

I’ve struggled with homelessness and alcoholism for 25 years. As much as I tried to bounce back, something always brought me back down a rough road. I appreciate MHP for all they do and the resources they provide. I know I have a long journey ahead of me but for the first time in life I am hopeful. I am determined to move forward, forgive myself, and let the past be the past.

Setbacks left me vulnerable, frustrated, and homeless. I was completely on my own and needed to figure out how to restart my life. I heard about Mental Health Partnerships and decided to give it a try. As soon as I walked in, I had a good feeling that they actually cared and were there to help. The feeling was unexplainable, but it felt like a family. Today, I have regained my freedom and independence. I would never be where I am without MHP and the wonderful supportive staff. I am proud to say that because of MHP, I can feel good about myself and take care of myself, my daughter, my family, and my community. I’m forever grateful.
