

ABOUT US

Hart-Supported Living is a program that is based on individually designed plans for support. These plans provide people with disabilities the help they need to live successfully in a home of their choice. The individual with a disability (and the people who support him or her) plan and design a set of services which meets the person's needs and is consistent with the principles of Supported Living. If the individual's request for funding is recommended, then a Supported Living plan is developed and funds are granted to implement the plan.
