National Anthropology Honor Society
50th Anniversary, 1968-2018

Lambda Alpha News

As 2018 begins, Lambda Alpha is experiencing several significant middle-age transitions, consisting of a recent retirement, a new virtual office format, a new administrative coordinator, and a new web page. Perhaps most importantly, March 2018 marks the 50th anniversary of Lambda Alpha. Considered together, these important life events for the society offer the opportunity in 2018 to look back with nostalgic reflection and look forward optimistically toward future possibilities.

Since 1985, Ball State University has hosted the Lambda Alpha National Office in the Department of Anthropology. To reduce operating costs and increase funding for student awards, the Lambda Alpha National Office has left Ball State and has adopted a virtual office format. In addition to the new virtual office format, the society has also (continued on page 6)

New Lambda Alpha Merchandise

A new line of Lambda Alpha merchandise is available in 2018. Featuring the Lambda Alpha logo, the new merchandise consists of t-shirts and baseball-style caps. We also hope to offer car stickers in the near future. The graduation regalia stoles and pins offered in past years are also still available from the society. See the back of the newsletter for ordering details.

Since 1997 Mrs. Barbara “Barb” Di Fabio served as the Administrative Coordinator for the Lambda Alpha National Office. Barb retired in December 2017. She has been an essential and central part of the society’s daily operation for the past twenty years. Barb has also been an important part of the institutional memory of the organization. The National Executive Council Members extend a sincere thank you to Barb for her dedication and service over the years and wish her the best during her retirement.

XLII Senior Scholarship Award Recipient

Sydney Stark, member of Theta of Ohio at Case Western Reserve University, received the 2017 National Lambda Alpha Senior Scholarship Award for $5,000 and an award plaque. Her faculty sponsor was Dr. Lawrence P. Greksa.

Sydney's research concentration is in medical anthropology and her experiences and accomplishments reflect her academic interests. Sydney has been certified as a Birth Doula, in American Red Cross CPR and First Aid, and in Global Health. She has experience as an employee and volunteer at medical and rape crisis centers. She wrote an anthropological honors thesis that examined college age women's embodied experience of menstruation and its effect on perception and identity. She also completed a study abroad experience that examined the health care system and social policies of the Netherlands. Awards she has received include the Peter Witt Scholarship given by Case Western Reserve University. Sydney has collaborated on two publications, and they appear in Addiction and American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology. She has also presented at three national conferences. Finally, her memberships, besides Lambda Alpha, include Phi Beta Kappa, National Collegiate Honors Society, Carl F. Wittke Award Selection Committee, National Abortion and Reproductive Rights Action League, and the American Civil Liberties Union. Sydney intends to work towards a M.A. degree in medical anthropology and global health. After finishing her M.A. degree, according to Dr. Hildebrand "she will continue to medical school to receive training as an obstetrician/gynecologist working to better the dire health situation in underprivileged populations in the US and internationally." Lambda Alpha offers its congratulations to Sydney for her accomplishments.

Graduate Research Grant Award Recipients

Ashlee Hart is a member of Lambda of New York. Dr. Peter F. Biehl of University at Buffalo, SUNY nominated Ashlee for the $2,000 research grant. Ashlee's proposal is entitled "Convening Cultures in Ancient Thrace: An Evaluation of Greek Interaction on Technological Choice within Indigenous Thracian Ceramics from Late Iron Age Western Bulgaria." In this study she is exploring the influence of foreign trade relationships on indigenous identity.

Tisa Loewen was nominated by Dr. Scott Williams of New York University. Tisa became a lifetime member of Lambda Alpha when she was an undergraduate at New Paltz State University of New York (Rho of New York). Tisa received a $2,000 research grant for a study of the Liburnian culture at an Iron Age site in present day Croatia. She is studying the effects of urbanization on the Liburnian people and their skeletal remains as they underwent Roman development. Her research proposal is called "Nadin Necropolis Skeletal Analysis."

Jasper Waugh-Quasebarth is a member of Delta of Kentucky at the University of Kentucky. He was nominated for a $2,000 research grant by Dr. Ann Kingsolver. Jasper's research proposal is called "Musical Instrument Makers, Appalachian Forests, and the Re-enchantment of Livelihood and Material in West Virginia." This research investigates the meaningful craft relationships between instrument makers and their materials in the forests of the Allegheny region of West Virginia.

developed a new web page. The web page is designed to have a simple format, is easy to locate on the internet, and is effective for communicating with anthropology students and faculty sponsors.

Melanie Cabak, a historical archaeologist with an M.A. degree in anthropology from the University of South Carolina (1991), has replaced Barb Di Fabio as administrative coordinator for the society. The new office contact information is listed on the contact page of the society's website and in the newsletter.

More Scholarships and Grants in 2018

The primary purpose of Lambda Alpha is to recognize and reward academic excellence among anthropology students. Consequently, an expanded number of scholarships and grants will be awarded in 2018 for the 50th anniversary.

In addition to the annual scholarship and grant awards, a 2018 student paper competition will be sponsored by the society, called the 50th Anniversary Lambda Alpha Founders Student Paper Competition. The paper competition is intended to commemorate the dedication of past students, faculty, and chapter staff over the past half-century that have supported Lambda Alpha through their membership, mentorship, and assistance. The paper competition will feature both an undergraduate and graduate student awards category. The winning papers from the competition will be considered for publication in the Lambda Alpha Journal as a 2018 50th anniversary thematic volume.

Lambda Alpha chapter faculty sponsors are encouraged to contact the society at laanthro@gmail.com if you are willing to volunteer as a judge for the student paper competition. The paper competition rules will be available in early February in the newsletter and on the webpage at laanthro.org.

We ask that chapter faculty sponsors interested in participating in the paper competition consider nominating an original paper from one undergraduate student member and one graduate student member per chapter for the competition.

If the 50th anniversary student paper competition is a success, then the society will consider periodically sponsoring paper prizes in the future..

Student and Faculty Highlights

In 2018 the 50th anniversary newsletter will be distributed via email by mid-year in June after the society awards have been distributed to students. For the 50th anniversary newsletter we ask that chapter faculty sponsors consider submitting professional biographical sketches of their former students that illustrate the Lambda Alpha ideals of academic excellence and achievement. We would especially like to showcase career-related student success stories from the chapters located across the country. This is a great opportunity to highlight noteworthy students, so please let us know about your chapter's high-achievers over the years. We also welcome professional sketches about noteworthy former chapter faculty sponsors that helped encourage and support student achievement and success. Chapter photographs, past and present, are also encouraged for the 50th anniversary newsletter.

2017 Senior Scholarship Applicants

In 2017 the Lambda Alpha Anthropology Honor Society national office received 16 highly qualified applicants for the annual $5,000 award given to a senior. These students have authored and presented papers at conferences, published papers, conducted fieldwork, and conducted research. Many of the students have also led their institutions anthropology clubs, been recipients of awards, grants, and honors, and some have had anthropological employment. Lambda Alpha Anthropology Honor Society would like to congratulate the following student award applicants on their achievements as undergraduate students.

2017 Graduate Research Grant Applicants

In 2017 the Lambda Alpha Anthropology Honor Society national office received 14 highly qualified applicants for the three $2,000 grants given to graduate students. These students were nominated from 9 different Lambda Alpha chapters. Below is a brief description of the applicant's research topics

Erina Baci's Alpha of Mississippi – Mississippi State University

This research aims to better understand prehistoric Albania by using GIS technology to examine geographic dispersals and settlement patterns.

Anna-Marie Casserly Delta of Kentucky – University of Kentucky

This research aims to examine how aspects of social identity are embodied through the experience of biological stress in Archaic populations from the Green River Region of Kentucky.

Kendra Cooper Gamma of Georgia - Georgia Southern University

The purpose of this research is to provide a regional anthropological perspective on abortion experiences and stigma in the southeast, particularly in southern Georgia.

Emily Creek Gamma of Colorado – University of Denver

This study is exploring how national identities are shaped in a globalized world through the performance arts, particularly in Iceland.

Lindsey Hinsom Gamma of Georgia - Georgia Southern University

Focusing on small sites, which are often ignored, this research explores complexity, variety, and testability of late prehistoric sites in the Savannah River Valley and the Atlantic Coastal Plain.

Nonpumelelo Hlophe Gamma of Georgia - Georgia Southern University

This research is examining the possibility of intentional burial practices among early hominids in South Africa.

Mirjam Holleman Beta of Alabama – University of Alabama

Mirjam's research explores the degree to which people with disabilities are perceived by others to meet expectations of citizenship, and the degree to which that correspond to disabled people's personal perceptions of themselves in relation to cultural models of model citizenship.

Jenna Hurtubise Beta of Alabama – University of Alabama

This study explores how ancient empire, the Chimú of Peru, affected ethnic and other social identities of subjugated people by analyzing architectural, artefactual, and skeletal remains.

Kelley Kampman Theta of Ohio - Case Western Reserve University

How pregnant women addicted to opiates navigate mothering practices and drug treatment is the focus of this study.

Lauren Marr Beta of Missouri – Washington University in St. Louis

Lauren is studying of how Italian converts to Islam create and manage a network of halal businesses. This commerce succeeds in Italian terms and also respects Islamic dietary rules.

Megan Schmidt-Sane Theta of Ohio - Case Western Reserve University

This research examines the complex intertwinement of individual risk and community vulnerability as experienced by men in two low-income communities in Kampala, Uganda.

Chapter News

Our annual newsletter is the best venue for sharing your chapter's activities and programs. Useful items to include are accomplishments, recognition, and on-going efforts of individual Lambda Alpha members connected with your department; and cooperative projects conducted under the aegis of Lambda Alpha such as lectures series, dedications, etc.

Gamma of Georgia (Georgia Southern)

Lambda Alpha Honor Society and Anthropological Society students from Georgia Southern University's Department of Sociology and Anthropology raised over $600 selling donuts, sweets, and drinks in a hurricane-relief fundraiser for the U.S. Virgin Islands in October, after Hurricanes Irma and Maria caused wide-spread destruction on St. Croix, St. Thomas, and St. John.

Funds raised were gifted to "My Brother's Workshop," (MBW) a Virgin Islands non-profit charitable organization that assists at-risk youth to become positive members of society through mentoring, counseling, training, education and job placement. This charity was selected by the students of both societies because of MBW's diligent and generous work in feeding people free, hot meals for several weeks after the storms hit the islands.

Hurricanes Irma and Maria, classified as two of the most powerful and deadly Atlantic storms in 2017, left a devastating trail of destruction in the Caribbean and along the southeastern Atlantic coast. The storms resulted in catastrophic damage and fatalities, affecting an estimated 10 million people.

Article by Ahmauri Williams-Alford. Submitted by Dr. Jennifer Sweeney Tookes, Faculty Sponsor.

Delta of Virginia (Longwood College)

The Delta of Virginia Chapter of Lambda Alpha is in its thirteenth year. This year we bought six new into Lambda Alpha, who were recognized at our annual Department Honors Award Banquet. This brings us to a total of 210 members that we have recruited since the establishment of our chapter.

We began the year with new inspired leadership that organized several evening meetings around presentations by students of their travels and research projects. One member, for example, had participated in a study of Pacific Island reefs during the summer and presented a slide lecture of her experiences voyaging across the pacific.

We had a change of leadership Spring semester and lost much of that initial impetus to organize such events. However, we stay in regular contact and new members are organizing for next year, when we hope to travel to the American Anthropological annual meeting.

Announcing the 50th Anniversary
Lambda Alpha National Scholarships,
Graduate Student Research Grants and
50th Anniversary Lambda Alpha Founder's
Student Paper Competition

The Lambda Alpha National Executive Council Members encourage Lambda Alpha chapter faculty sponsors to submit nominees for the 2018 Lambda Alpha annual awards. In recognition of Lambda Alpha's 50th anniversary, in 2018 we are providing $30,000 in student awards. This is a substantial increase in award funding compared to previous years. Details regarding the 2018 awards are summarized on page 11. The society anticipates continuing to offer a larger number of scholarships and grants in the foreseeable future due to the substantial savings from office reorganization in 2017.

Please select one undergraduate senior nominee per chapter for the three National Scholarships. Please nominate one graduate student per chapter for the six Graduate Student Research Grants. The graduate student nominee should request support for research in one of the three award categories: archeology, bioanthropology, or cultural/linguistic anthropology. Please select two nominees per chapter for the Lambda Alpha Founder's Student Paper Competition, consisting of a paper submission from one undergraduate student and a paper submission from one graduate student.

These are limited and closed competitions with a sizable award. A well-qualified candidate has a reasonable chance to win. To ensure a quality set of candidates, applicants that are not society members will be allowed to join the honor society. New applicants must be accepted by their chapter by the award deadline. To apply for membership, chapter faculty sponsors should submit a printed, signed application form and the $25 lifetime membership fee before the competition deadline. The application deadline for scholarships and grants is March 15, 2018. Printed, official copies of student transcripts and the signed release forms must be post-marked by March 15, 2018 to be eligible for the awards competition. Please submit applications to the Lambda Alpha National Office (Attn: Melanie Cabak).

Additional awards information is at laanthro.org.

Lambda Alpha

National Anthropology Honor Society
50th Anniversary, 1968-2018

Λογος Ανθρωπος

Established in 1968, the purpose of Lambda Alpha National Anthropology Honor Society is to both acknowledge and reward academic excellence. The name Lambda Alpha is composed of the initial letters of the Greek words Logos Anthropos (Λογος Ανθρωπος), meaning the study of humankind.

Lambda Alpha supports scholarship and research by acknowledging and honoring superior achievement in the discipline among students engaged in the study of anthropology. Superior academic performance is recognized through membership in the society. Lambda Alpha rewards academic excellence through the annual awarding of student scholarships, research grants, and student paper prizes.
