Our Mission & Vision

WHO WE ARE

Sanctuary Farms is building a space for our community to easily spend time in nature, right in the city. And while we’re at it, we’re composting local food waste and growing fresh produce.

WHY WE ARE

We focus on closing the food loop by cultivating organic produce and creating nutritious compost. With these goals we want to foster a thriving community where people are safe, healthy and connected to their local environment and food.
Pollinator Garden Workshops
We hosted two workshops sponsored by the Detroit Zoological Society about the need for pollinator gardens in urban spaces. One was catered to Riverbend residents and the other for urban gardeners.

Bird Watching
Led by Rob Streit, we brought nature enthusiasts together to discover the diverse avian life thriving in urban green spaces. Participants honed their observational skills, fostering a deeper appreciation for the delicate balance between nature and the bustling cityscape.

CEND Event
As a member of Cooperative Economic Network of Detroit (CEND), we hosted their vibrant event. Uniting diverse cooperative businesses from across the city to showcase and sell their unique products.

Farm Tours
We’ve hosted over 10+ tours for organizations and schools interested educational around our gardening and composting efforts.
